DOPE RAID MADE ON SATURDAY

A vice squad made up of 13 law enforcement men and women made a successful drug raid north of Elba Saturday afternoon. The group was acting on evidence gathered over a three-month period by the Elba Police Department. Four men and a woman were arrested in the raid which netted a dangerous supply of drugs.

Following a two hour search of the house and grounds, the officers found 1,000 LSD tablets; four paper shopping bags of unprocessed marijuana and assorted habituate tablets.

The marijuana was found in the house as was an attaché case with some of the LSD. On a sleeping bag in the yard was a leather pouch containing LSD tablets, habituates and a smoke pipe for marijuana. The raided house is 14.2 miles north of Elba and near Pea River. For years it belonged to the Tindol family and for several years was owned by former governor James E. "Big Jim" Folsom who sold it a year or so ago.

The scene Saturday afternoon was a far cry from the many hot summer Sundays when the Tindols and the Folsoms spread their food under the shade of the huge magnolia tree and enjoyed the fellowship of their hundreds of kinsmen at the annual family reunions while careless children dashed through the halls and under the house disturbing the teenager who was charming his or her guest in the front porch swing.

Taking part in the raid were Elba Police Chief Jack Smart, Sgt. Robert D. Ross, Elba Patrolmen Ray Norris, Roger Boothe, Max Rayburn, Walter Daugherty and Barbara Brooks.

At press time all five were confined to the Coffee County jail.

Bass Tournament Set At Rucker

The Third Annual Spring Bass Tournament, sponsored by the Elba Wildlife Association, is scheduled for May 15 and 16 at Lake Tholocco.

Field from 5 a.m. May 15 to 5 p.m. May 16, the tournament will be open to anyone with an Alabama license. A $2 entry fee will cover both days.

Fishing of an electric fishing motor, rod and reel and tackle box will be awarded to contestants catching the largest bass, the second largest by weight and greatest number of bass caught for the two-day total.

Registration will begin at 4:30 a.m. May 15 at the Elba Wildlife Association Clubhouse. Contestants who are not members of the Elba Wildlife Association must purchase daily permits, costing 50 cents.

For non-Wildlife Association contestants, the Elba Wildlife Association must purchase daily permits, costing 50 cents.

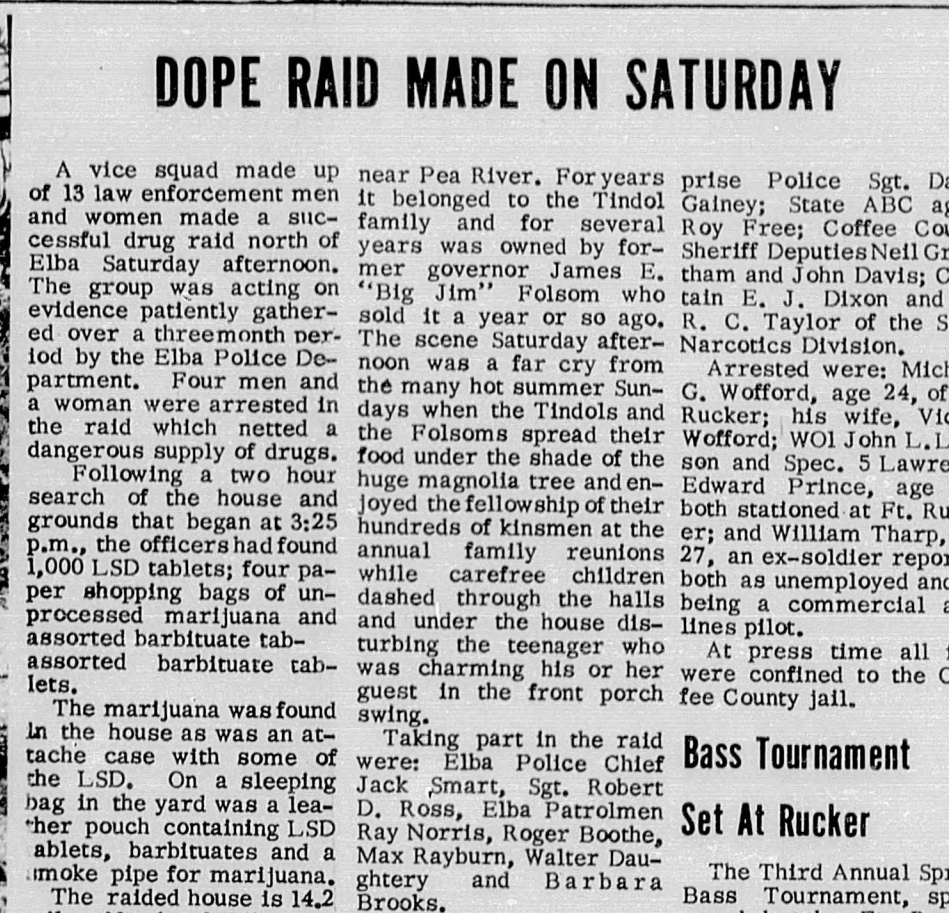

A ticket to the game in Elba entitles a person to win an all expense paid vacation for two on a 4-day cruise from Miami to the Bahamas.

POW RELEASE IS PUSHED HERE

This meeting in Geneva would not mean the end of the suffering and anguish of the Ringdorf family. A contribution to this cause is a small way to tell the Ringdorf family that we care.

The POW-MIA committee of the Alabama American Legion has set a goal to raise funds to send the 60 old Alabama families to Geneva, Switzerland, to determine the fate of their loved ones.

James Boswell, Commander of Culver Post #42 says, "The people in and around Elba have an opportunity at last to show their concern and love for Captain Ben Ringdorf who has been a prisoner of war since November 11, 1966. Ben Ringdorf wants to come home. His parents, Dr. and Mrs. Ringdorf, want him to come home. So do all of us. Who can say

A 4:00 p.m. ceremony, April 18, united in marriage Miss Judy Daniels of Elba and Mr. Alston Barrett Rhodes of Butler, Alabama, when the Reverend Tommy Harrison officiated in the Curtis Baptist Church, Mr. Jimmy Pierce and Mrs. Nina Miller presented a program of nuptial music. Their selections included "Whither Thou Goest," "He," "The Lord's Prayer," "We've Only Just Begun," and the traditional processional.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Wilmer Franklin Daniels and the late Mr. Daniels of Elba, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Neal Rhodes, Sr., of Butler.

Church decorations consisted of one massive arrangement of white mums, and peach colored carnations and peach throated white mums in large candle trees flanking the altar.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Fred Daniels, Pinckard, Alabama, the bride wore a gown of white crepe enhanced with full long sleeves. The neckline, bodice and sleeves were heavily appliqued with motifs of lace. The gown was of A-line design and her hair was attached to the waist. Her veil was of silk illusion and she carried a bouquet of miniature carnations, stephanotis and white orchids.

Mrs. Frank Daniels of Elba was matron of honor. Also attending were Mrs. Finley Clarke, Elba; Mrs. Brenda Killough, Montgomery and Miss Donna Rhodes, sister of the groom, Butler.

The attendants wore dresses of peach colored crepe designed along empire lines. Peach colored daisies accented the outfit. Their headpieces were peach colored crepe bows with silk illusion gathered in the back and each carried a single rose.

Kimberly Huggins of Montgomery was flower girl.

The groom chose his father as best man. Ushers and groomsmen were Jim Daniels, Elba, brother of the bride; Don Chandler, Birmingham and Larry Huggins, Montgomery.

Ken Raines of Demopolis attended as ring bearer.

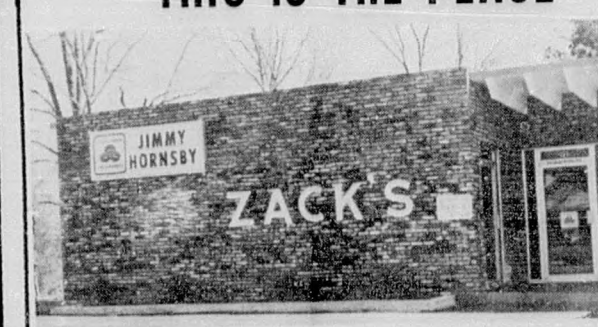

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church social hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes are making their home in Butler, following a wedding trip to the Smokey Mountains.

Children-Tested Packages Studied

Sixteen hundred boys and girls from Philadelphia and the San Francisco Bay area are undergoing strength and dexterity tests in a research project intended to aid packaging manufacturers in the design and production of "childproof" safety closures.

The study, sponsored by the Glass Manufacturers Institute, Inc., is being conducted by Dr. Wilton M.

Krogman of the Philadelphia Center for Research in Child Growth. All the children being tested are six years of age or younger.

Upon completion of the study, the results will be submitted to the Food and Drug Administration and this authority may include them in any standards for packaging structuring that come forth under the new Poison Prevention Packaging Act of 1970.

An extra 140 pounds of peanuts per acre

Do you know the difference between just liming peanuts - and liming plus top-dressing now with USS Basic Slag?

The difference in yield can average 140 pounds more per acre, this year. And the difference in gross income, about $16.50 per acre, based on 1970 prices for Grade A peanuts. What's more, Basic Slag top-dressed at about 500 pounds per acre produces a measurably higher percentage of sound, mature kernels than liming alone.

These are the results of a twelve-year study at the Alabama Experiment Station, and the reasons for them are clear.

Basic Slag supplies the quick-acting calcium that peanuts need at pegging time. And in addition - unlike other commonly used top-dressings - Basic Slag sweetens the soil and supplies important plant nutrients: phosphorus and magnesium and vital minor elements, like iron and manganese.

Your dealer has Basic Slag in bag or in bulk. Phone him today; don't waste a minute. Because Basic Slag goes to work the minute you spread it.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation to the many friends and relatives who showed their sympathy by bringing food, sending flowers and other necessities. Thanks for sharing our griefs in the loss of our wife and mother, Mrs. Jack Smart, Jackie, Mark and Sherri.

We want to thank all the people of Elba and especially Uncle Robert, Aunt Zell and Bobby King for their kindness and assistance during the illness and death of our beloved aunt, Miss Ethel Maddox. Your assistance during her last days made her very happy and without your help this would not have been possible. These words cannot express the feeling in our hearts for each of you, so we pray that you will understand our appreciation for everything you did for Aunt Ethel. May God Bless each and everyone of you. Sincerely, The Jimmie Rice Family

A pair of rat golden cherubs held sprays of purple iris which spilled out across the turquoise cloth. In the background was an arched folding screen painted blue. These original decorations were created by Mrs. Jack Vaughan, aunt of the groom-to-be.

"Flower Arranging" Topic For Azalea Garden Club Meeting

Mrs. Boyd Murphree and Mrs. Bancroft Cooper were hostesses for the April meeting of the Azalea Garden Club on Wednesday, the fourteenth, when they entertained at a delightful coffee for the members and their guests.

The spacious banquet room of the Elba Country Club was the setting and was attractively decorated with a profusion of spring flowers brought by members and used later in the program of floral arrangements. The central decoration of the Coffee table was a large basket of azaleas, dogwood and iris. As the guests arrived, they were served coffee by Mrs. Oliver Williams and delicious morning delicacies by Mrs. F. H. Murphree, then seated at an E-shaped table. A basket of colorful sweet peas and ferns marked the center table reserved for the guest speaker and club officers, and small baskets of azaleas placed at intervals completed the table decorations.

Mrs. Oliver Williams, president, welcomed two new members, Mrs. R. H. Lee and Mrs. Harry Bullard; the guest speaker, Mrs. Ed Driggers of Dothan; and all other guests. She then presented Mrs. J. M. Kimmie, chairman of the program, who introduced the honor guest, Mrs. Driggers, an instructor at George C. Wallace School, who gave a most interesting and informative program on "Flower Arranging" that she referred to as "an art that followed certain rules, but not to the point of restricting creativity." She stressed using materials on hand; looking at the flowers on the bush; and imagining how they will make up; and the main points to consider in arranging should be proper setting, space, element of design, proper scale and line. She concluded her talk by demonstrating the points discussed in creating and displaying a number of artistic arrangements using bare limbs, reeds, leaves, ferns, flowers and other materials at hand.

There were about 65 guests attending this delightful meeting.

"Primavera" is a splendid word for a splendid sport coat. Pure cotton, cool and light, loomed to a silken lustre by Italian artistry. Patterned in plaids, checks or stripes in opulent mosaic tones. # ELBA REPORT

SENIOR OF THE WEEK

We would like to congratulate this week's "Senior of the Week," Anne Young, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Young.

Anne's hobbies include swimming, cooking, horseback riding and playing softball. Her favorite interests are cheerleading and boys.

Anne is an active member of P.H.A. Beta Club, Mu Alpha Theta, Pep Club, and E Club. Her favorite class is P. E. and her favorite teacher is Mrs. Berry.

After high school, Anne plans to attend college and to marry.

School, to Anne, is a place where one prepares himself for the future and its problems. "Having longer recess and lunch periods and shorter classes would make school better," she says.

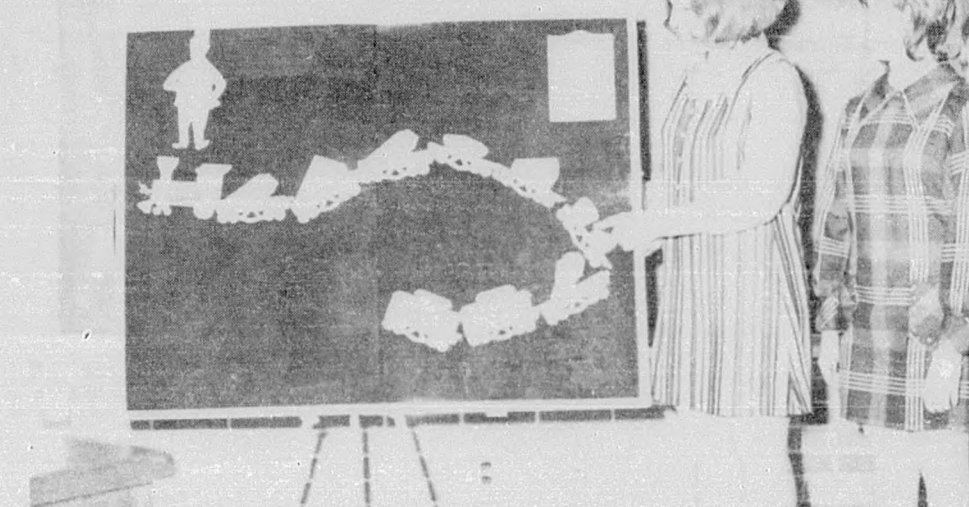

The qualities she thinks a good person should have are: friendliness, nice looks, a good personality and respect for himself as well as others.

Having a twin sister has its advantages and disadvantages. Anne's pet peeve is being called Jan and being hugged and congratulated on her "recent marriage."

ANNE YOUNG

Again we would like to say, "Congratulations, Anne."

4-H'ers Teach Nutrition

Special talents, dedication, leadership ability and a willingness to serve others are but a few of the qualities exhibited by teen 4-H'ers, Melaine Brunson, right, and Melaine Carnely, left, as they teach nutrition lessons to a Special Education Class at Elba Elementary School.

The "DOT" (Diets Our Thing) nutrition project is sponsored by the Coffee County Extension Service of Mrs. Myrna J. Rhoades. The purpose of the "DOT" (Diets Our Thing) Program is to promote better nutrition among youth.

Melaine and Alice visit the Special Education Class

once each week for a series of lessons on the importance of milk in the diet. A milk drink is prepared, and then taste. At home the students repeat these experiences and put into effect the things they are learning from the 4-H teen leaders.

Some of the recipes prepared include: P-Nutty Shake, P-Nutty Cocoa, Fruit Crush and Krazy Jam Shake.

Consumers Want to Know

BY MARGARET SPADER
Director of Consumer Affairs
National Association of Manufacturers

Don't disposables actually add more environmental problems after consumers finish using them?

Incineration can be used to get rid of many disposables, especially where there are risks of contamination such as would be the case with surgical products. At least one manufacturer is currently marketing a compactor, similar to but smaller than those used in automobile junk yards, that can compress garbage at a ten-to-one ratio. The compressed packages can be used as land fill. Many other self-destructing methods are being researched.

MISERY IS

... Dropping your books on the stairs, just as the tardy bell rings.
... Monday mornings.
... A test of any kind.
... Failing your driver's test.
... A brother or a sister.
... Staying up all night cramming for an exam and it is postponed.

Ballad Of Seniors '71

The final day has ended. The last school bell has rung. We said our final parting. The seniors have been sprung.

Oh good ole seniors seventy-one. Elba High taught you the score. And now you must salute her. Good-bye forever more.

There'll be no more bright mornings. With students studying books. Or passing notes and talking. Under teacher's dirty looks.

There'll be no more sweet voices. Calling loudly through the halls. Or dead yawns or smart remarks. Making teachers climb the walls.

And girls won't sit in huddles. During Shelby, Byron and Keats. Pretending to be listening. While they pass around the eats.

And Henry, Gary and Denny. Will miss their afternoon naps. If they'd hand down their secret.

Again we would like to say, "Congratulations, Anne."

Again we would like to say, "Congratulations, Anne."

Again we would like to say, "Congratulations, Anne."

Again we would like to say, "Congratulations, Anne."

Again we would like to say, "Congratulations, Anne."

Again we would like to say, "Congratulations, Anne."

Again we would like to say, "Congratulations, Anne."

Again we would like to say, "Congratulations, Anne."

Again we would like to say, "Congratulations, Anne."
